

Range-expanding new options for the Nienkämper NOW® chair Design: Mark Müller

Chicago, IL June 2008 - Recently introduced as a conference chair, the affordable and contemporary Nienkämper NOW® soon proved popular not only in the boardroom but in many other workplace settings. With the implementation of a new expansion program, this chair is now even more suitable for a wide range of business environments, including private offices.

In addition to the tailored refinement of the previously introduced Nienkämper NOW® with a topstitched upholstered back, the back options now include mesh in a choice of three patterns and five hues, and leather covers in two different styles. As well, the introduction of a new multifunctional arm, adjustable in four directions and capped with a soft rubber pad, enhances Nienkämper NOW®'s performance as a task chair. Height and back controls, firm lumbar support and a contoured back ensure that the chair provides ergonomic comfort. The Nienkämper NOW® is exceptionally easy to specify, and with Nienkämper's new online tool, it will soon be possible to choose, view and order your own configuration at www.nienkamper.com.

Standard features:

- Five-star polished aluminum or nylon base
- Syncro action
- Pneumatic height adjustment
- Back tilt locking mechanism with return safety function
- tension control
